

IT'S NEVER BEEN A LEVEL PLAYING FIELD

Steve Brigham

Brief Bio

Steve Brigham is a leader in the public engagement field who, for the past 24 years, has known great success as a facilitator, consultant, and designer of complex public meetings and community-building processes on critical public policy issues.

He has facilitated numerous national and international forums. Since 2010, his bread-and-butter consulting has focused primarily on local and metro D.C. issues, such as land use policy, affordable housing, transportation, support for BIPOC business owners in jeopardy of displacement, economic development, and public school redistricting.

In the past decade, Steve's work and volunteer time have increasingly tackled racial equity and equitable development issues.
